GOOD MORNING JUDGE

By RUDOLPH PERKINS.

Demon and Pythians.

Let the gold dust twine do your swiping.

These boys are not exactly twins. One is rather light in color and the other is rather dark. But they do all their little odd jobs together and they went to jail together.

They are Bill Jones and Stanwood Carter. There are lots of other Bill Joneses but this is a particular one. What ever one does the other does too. Bill swiped a bicycle so did Carter. Bill swiped another. So did Carter.

Bill carried a razor. Carter had one but he lost it in a crap game. He was to have another, but the police objected.

As for Carter, he will be separated from his side kick for three months, because he got that much less than Bill. Two hundred days for Bill and 180 for Carter.

Almost Treason.

Certain members of the Army and Navy Club came near having to get up from the table with greasy fingers.

Dick Milburn was employed at the club and he watched the diners as they finished eating their meals, wipe their fingers very carefully, and fold up the napkins.

Fine idea, thought Dick. He would add a little touch of refinement to his own table at home. He swiped some napkins.

A cop saw them on the line and noticed the mark of the club on the corner of the napkins.

He investigated. Then he arrested Dick, took him and the napkins back to the club. Judge Pugh told him that he could have bought napkins in the 5 and 10-cent store. In order to jog his brain a little, the court fined him $5.

They Will Swipe.

John Addison had been hauling lumber down in Potomac Park. He was a long cool drive by the river and he had no overcoat.

Neither did he have the price of one. Well, the only thing for John to do was to beg, borrow or steal one. He tried the two former methods and they failed absolutely.

When the night watchman wasn't looking he swiped his coat. A government lumber inspector saw him make the pinch.

John put the coat in a sack "Mighty soft wood," said a cop. "Well, sah," replied John, "I ain't hauled no hardwood this season" (tee-hee).

It was a sure thing that the watchman didn't want to stand around this winter and shiver, so they took the overcoat away from John and locked him up.

Judge Pugh assured the watchman that he would see that he didn't catch pinch and shiver. He gave him his coat back and sent John to jail for sixty days.

Nice Way to Treat Customers.

"Judge, Ah goes into yomake joint and dose two Chinamen were arguing and dey was afraid Ah would heah wot dey said en dey toy me to git out. Den dey showed some hot water on me en dey throwed a dish at dey."

Jesse Lucas had been arrested for destroying private property. He went into a Chinese restaurant on North Capitol street the other night. Pekin Law and Moy Gong were having an argument in Chinese.

Rather than let Jesse hear what they were saying they ordered him out. Jesse thought it was alright for him to stay as he didn't understand what was going on.

Low rank and got a bucket of hot water and threw it on Jesse. In the meantime Gong was dancing all over the place yelling in Chinese for a cop.

Judge Pugh thought that Jesse acted in self-defense and let him loose.

A Nip and a Nup.

It was 2 o'clock in the morning, last Thursday. Bill King and his wife were sound asleep. The dogs on the front porch of their Takoma Park home began to bark.

All hands got up. A man was wallowing around on the porch. Wasn't anybody but Paul Kolis, an Austrian. Now and then he came around to sleep off a jag.

He had been used to sleeping on this particular porch before the Kings moved in the house. He had no home, and so the former tenants of the house let him sleep on the porch to keep the watch-dog company.

Bill rushed to the door with a stick. Paul fell headfirst in the door and down over his head came the stick. It broke.

This ought not to have happened because Bill knew it was no one but Paul on a toot. If he hadn't bothered Paul he would have gone to sleep right where he was.

Testimony showed that he was a trifle sore at Paul for something or other and he thought that this would be just as good a time as any to get even. Bill is out a $10 bill.

U. S. BUYS ABROAD; GETS REVENUE BACK

Government Required to Pay Customs Duty as Individual.

Uncle Sam pays money out uselessly in at least one case just brought out by a War Department order, although it goes back into his own pocket.

Just how much is involved or to what extent the story is disadvantageous to the War Department is not stated by any of the officials. It is nothing more nor less than the payment by Uncle Sam of the regular customs duties on army supplies purchased in Canada and brought into this country for use.

The judge advocate general's office was asked if it wouldn't be possible to admit goods free of duty when they were consigned to the proper officers of the Quartermaster's corps and when they were unquestionably to be put to army use.

The legal officer of the army held that inasmuch as the customs act, now in force, makes no exceptions of army goods, the customs duty must be paid upon them. Further the judge advocate declares that until by specific provision of Congress, such goods are exempted they will have to continue subject to such duties as are laid on merchandise used for other purposes.

It's Canton-ments Not Can-tone-ments

Its canton-ments, not can-tone-ments, when you refer to the draft camps. President Wilson says so, and Secretary of War Baker tells this story on himself:

"I had been pronouncing the word 'canton-ments,' he said, 'until some of the British officers came here and they all called it can-tone-ments. So I switched.

"While I was discussing the mobilization with the President he asked:

"Why do you always say 'canton-ments'?"

"I told him, 'Why, I said, 'is it incorrect'?"

"Yes," he replied. "You're wrong. It's canton-ments."

CONVENTION CALL ISSUED BY SUFFS

Forty-ninth Annual Meeting to Be Held Here in December.

The National American Woman Suffrage Association yesterday issued the official call for its forty-ninth annual convention, to be held in this city, at Poll's Theater, December 12 to 15, inclusive. Washington has been selected as the place for the convention in order that the 1,000 or more delegates who will assemble at that time may urge upon Congress the immediate passage of the Federal women's suffrage amendment.

The delegates will represent State branches of the National Association throughout the country, with a total membership of more than 2,000,000.

The official call is signed by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, honorary president; Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president; and the following national board members: Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, of Missouri; Mrs. Stanley McCormick, of New York; Miss Esther G. Ogden, of New Jersey; Mrs. Henry Wade Rogers, of Connecticut; Mrs. Frank J. Shuler, of New York; Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Smith, of Kentucky; Mrs. Patti Ruffner Jacobs, of Alabama; Mrs. Maud Wood Park, of Massachusetts; Mrs. Henrietta W. Livermore, and Miss Rose Young, of New York.

Camera Club Continues To Give Exhibitions

The second free exhibition of moving pictures showing "Britain Prepared" was given by the Camera Club at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters last night.

Next month L. O. Armstrong, official lecturer of the Canadian government, will give two lectures under the auspices of the club. On November 21 he will lecture on eight films of war pictures, and on the 22d he will take his audience "over the trail" from Labrador to Alaska.

The Camera Club will continue to give free monthly exhibitions as a part of a campaign of education.

COURT INDICTS TWO; STOLE $60 AT CAMP

Miles and Montgomery, Negroes, Face Five-Year Penalty.

Tampering with an officer's mess fund is a serious crime. Two colored men, William Miles and Charles Montgomery, found this out in Criminal Court yesterday morning when a jury, sitting before Justice McCoy brought in a verdict of guilty of robbery against them.

On September 12, Frederick L. Woodward, a member of the Engineer Corps, stationed at the American University camp, was collecting money from his brother officers for the mess fund. At noon he had collected $60 and was on his way to the company's safe with it when he noticed a man following him. He took the money out of one pocket and transferred it to another. The man saw him.

Five minutes later the $60 was gone and Woodward looked around and saw Miles and Montgomery running for a jitney bus.

Woodward came on to town in pursuit of the robbers. He went from saloon to saloon with two policemen. Finally they discovered the men they wanted in a saloon on Four-and-a-half street. They were both arrested. Both denied stealing the money. None of it could be found. Both men face a penalty of from three to five years, possibly the latter as the courts are determined to break up the practice of pocketbook snatching.

LABOR DISPUTES SETTLED.

The Department of Labor announced yesterday the adjustment of the controversy between longshoremen and their employers at Norfolk, Newport News and Hampton Roads.

Differences between the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and 400 of its clerks at Cumberland and Connersville have also been settled.

In New York the department has brought seven raincoat manufacturers and their employees together again.

The president of one of New York's oldest and richest banks, who entered its service as a messenger, died recently and it was found that he had embezzled $200,000.

Last Opportunity to Win Prizes; Contest Ends Saturday

All Letters Must Be in The Herald Office by 4 P. M. Today—Shopping Contest Series Closes at That Time.

This is the last week for shoppers to try for one of the cash prizes offered in the Shopping Contest conducted by The HERALD. The last opportunity to win in this series ends with the four bells today.

Read the "ads" in this morning's HERALD, and having selected your wants, write a letter of your experiences while shopping for them. Be sure to inclose the clipped advertisement or the receipted sales check. Do it now and line yourself up for one of these cash prizes to be divided as follows:

First Prize for best letter, $5.00
Second prize next best letter, $3.00
Third prize next best letter, $1.00
Fourth prize next best letter, $1.00

Accepted from contestants in this office up to 4 p. m. today, October 13, 1917 (including all mail bearing a postmark not later than noon) Today.

All that you have to do is to save your sales slips on any of the items that you find advertised in today's Herald, or any other issue of The Herald this week. In any case where the store does not issue sales slips just ring the item in the ad and send it along with your letter.

Both Save Money and Win Prizes.

If several sales items appear on the same sales slip, ring the one that, in your mind, represents the best bargain that you bought, and mail it to the Shopping Editor of The Herald, accompanied by a letter (not to exceed 150 words) telling why this bargain appealed to your needs as the best buying opportunity for you on that particular day.

How to Write Letter.

The way in which your letter impresses the Shopping Editor as to the value of the article received for the money spent will count most. Neatness and phraseology are but secondary considerations.

The size of the article purchased and the amount of the price paid will not figure in making the prize awards. The purchaser of a paper of pins stands the same chance of winning on this score as the purchaser of a piano or an automobile.
